VENUE: RIZVI COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

At Rizvi College of Education, the Socially Useful Productive Work (SUPW) program serves as a cornerstone in nurturing holistic development among students, blending practical learning with moral and social values. With a focus on fostering life skills, social awareness, creativity, and community engagement, the program aims to equip students with the tools necessary to navigate real-world challenges and contribute meaningfully to society.

The Socially Useful Productive Work (SUPW) program at Rizvi College of Education recently engaged both F.Y.B.ED and S.Y.B.ED students in a trans-formative project centered around tablecloth painting with acrylic colors. Divided into six groups for S.Y.B.ED and two groups for F.Y.B.E.D a total of 8 groups of students collaborated over two days to bring their creative visions to life. Each group was tasked with acquiring their own tablecloth, as well as gathering necessary materials such as paintbrushes, paint, sponges, stencils, and any additional supplies required for their project.

On the first day, students from both divisions engaged in lively discussions, brainstorming ideas, and sketching designs onto the tablecloths, laying the foundation for their artistic endeavors. The atmosphere buzzed with excitement and anticipation on the second day as students meticulously painted their chosen designs, infusing each piece with their unique artistic flair and attention to detail. Throughout the project, students not only honed their technical and artistic skills but also cultivated empathy, teamwork, and a sense of responsibility towards their communities and the environment.

The collaborative efforts of the students exemplified the values of the SUPW program, fostering a spirit of creativity, cooperation, and social awareness. As the project came to a close, the students stood proud of their accomplishments, poised to make a positive impact in the world as compassionate, creative, and socially responsible individuals, thanks to the holistic education provided by Rizvi College of Education.
